THE ECONOMY

- In the first quarter, U.S. real gross domestic product (GDP) contracted at a seasonally adjusted annualized rate of -0.5%, marking the first quarterly contraction since 2022. This figure was due in large part to a surge in imports as companies hoped to get ahead of tariffs, however other areas including consumption also saw some softening over the quarter. Outside the U.S., some developed countries saw similar contraction such as Japan, which saw (annualized) GDP decline by -0.2% over the quarter; while the Eurozone grew at annualized rate of 2.5%.
- The U.S. unemployment rate held relatively steady over the quarter with a reading of 4.1% in June. The latest initial jobless claims for the week ending June 28 ticked slightly higher to 233,000 in June, while the outstanding claims rose to approximately 2 million as unemployed workers struggled to find suitable employment. Businesses appear to be in a relative “low hire, low fire” mode.
- Inflation remained relatively flat in the second quarter. Headline inflation (CPI) grew at a year-over-year rate of 2.4% in May after a slight dip in April. Core CPI, which excludes volatile food and energy, grew at 2.8% on an annual basis, the lowest rate since March 2021, however it has been growing at this pace since March.

WHAT WE'RE WATCHING

- The Federal Reserve (Fed) held rates flat again in the second quarter and it continues to maintain a 'wait-and-see' approach until more supportive data points to a clearer path regarding the impacts of tariffs. The latest Fed projections continue to forecast two quarter-percentage-point rate reductions by the end of 2025. Outside of the U.S., the European Central Bank (ECB) cut rates twice in the second quarter, bringing rates near neutral as inflation fell within targets.
- U.S. consumer sentiment, as measured by the University of Michigan survey of consumers, recovered after a precipitous drop in March and April, but still remains relatively gloomy, and down significantly from December 2024 levels, as consumers remain cautious about the risks of both an economic slowdown and further increases in inflation. Consumer spending, which drives more than two-thirds of the economy, has seen a slight pullback, falling 0.1% month-over-month, in May.
- Continued geopolitical risk and trade relations remain areas of concern for the markets. Conflict in the Middle East has the potential to impact energy prices, a consequence that we briefly saw before the ceasefire between Israel and Iran. Trade deals have not been finalized with a variety of important partners, and while continued trade negotiations may clear up some of the tariff uncertainty in the third quarter, many questions have not yet been resolved and their possible effects on inflation remain unclear.

DOMESTIC EQUITY

- The S&P 500 Index (S&P) posted a 10.9% return for the second quarter of 2025, recovering from a steep drop at the start of the quarter as markets reacted to the tariff announcements.
- Within the S&P 500, performance was mixed across the 11 GICS sectors. Only three sectors saw declines in the quarter: Energy (-8.6%), Healthcare (-7.2%) and Real Estate (-0.1%). The best performing sectors were Information Technology (23.7%), Communication Services (18.5%), and Industrials (12.9%).
- Positive returns were seen across all capitalizations with large caps, as represented by the Russell 1000 Index, returning 11.1% during the quarter while mid and small caps, as represented by the Russell Midcap and Russell 2000 indices both returned approximately 8.5%.
- According to FactSet Earnings Insight (as of June 27, 2025), analysts are projecting moderate earnings growth of 5.0% for Q2 2025, and for calendar year 2025, analysts are projecting year-over-year earnings growth of 9.1%. If the projected earnings growth for Q2 is correct, this will mark the lowest earnings growth since Q4 2023.
- As of the end of the quarter, the forward 12-month adjusted positive price-to-earnings (P/E) ratio (includes only positive earnings results for consistency) for the S&P 500 is 25.7, which is above the 5-year average of 23.3. The Russell 2000, which represents small cap stocks, had an adjusted positive forward P/E ratio of 19.6, also above its 5-year average of 17.7.

INTERNATIONAL EQUITY

- Markets outside of the United States, as measured by the MSCI ACWI ex-U.S. Index, outperformed their U.S. counterparts, returning 12.0% for the quarter.
- All 11 sectors posted positive returns for the quarter. The top performing sectors were Information Technology (21.8%), Industrials (18.0%) and Communication Services (15.0%). The worst performers for the quarter were Energy (2.5%), Consumer Discretionary (2.6%), and Healthcare (3.5%).
- Developed ex-U.S. Markets, as represented by the MSCI EAFE Index, underperformed emerging markets (EM), as represented by the MSCI Emerging Market Index, returning 11.8% versus 12.0% for the quarter. Returns from all international indices are in USD, which positively impacted performance due to the weakening dollar.
- Of the five largest-weighted countries in the MSCI EAFE Index the MSCI Germany Index (16.3%) outperformed while MSCI Japan (11.4%) performed in line with EAFE. The MSCI France (9.3%), MSCI United Kingdom (8.7%), and MSCI Switzerland (7.5%) indices all underperformed, though they still saw solid returns.
- Of the five largest-weighted countries in Emerging Markets, MSCI China (2.0%) and MSCI India (9.2%) underperformed the MSCI Emerging Markets index, while MSCI Taiwan (26.1%), MSCI Korea (32.7%), and MSCI Brazil (13.3%) all outperformed. Taiwan and Korea were both boosted to their double digit returns by the continued demand for semiconductors.
- Growth stocks outperformed value stocks for the quarter as represented by the broad benchmarks. MSCI AC World ex-USA Growth returned 13.7%, while MSCI AC World ex-USA Value returned 10.4%. Within EM, growth outperformed value as well, returning 13.4% versus 8.5%.
- Small-caps, as represented by the MSCI ACWI ex-U.S. Small Cap Index, also saw strong positive returns during the quarter, posting a return of 16.9%.
- Non-U.S. equity valuations rose over the second quarter but remain close to their long-term averages. As of quarter-end, the MSCI EAFE's Adjusted Positive Forward P/E stood at 16.6 versus a 5-year average of 16.0. MSCI EM ended the quarter with an Adjusted Positive Forward P/E ratio of 13.6, slightly above its 5-year average of 13.3.

FIXED INCOME

- The U.S. bond market, represented by the Bloomberg U.S. Aggregate Index, saw positive returns in the first quarter, returning 1.2%.
- The Bloomberg U.S. Treasury Index closed the quarter returning 0.8%. During the period, the Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) held rates steady, marking the second quarter with no changes as policy makers continue their cautious stance as uncertainty remains over the final impact of tariffs on inflation and economic activity. The official dot plot continues to project two cuts for the remainder of the year. The yield curve steepened over the quarter as rates rose on the very long end and fell in the intermediate-term. The 30-year rose to 4.8%, while the 2-year ended at 3.7%. Cash markets currently provide higher yields than the 2-year Treasuries.
- Corporate credit saw positive returns across the quality spectrum for the quarter. The Investment Grade Bloomberg U.S. Corporate (IG Corp) Index returned 1.8% while High Yield bonds, as represented by the ICE BofA High Yield (HY) Index, returned 3.6%. After a spike in April, spreads returned to levels below the 10-year average for both investment-grade and high yield, in line with a broad “risk on” sentiment.
- The fixed-rate mortgage market, as measured by the Bloomberg U.S. Mortgage-Backed Securities (MBS) Index returned 1.1%. On the commercial side, the Bloomberg U.S. Agency CMBS Index returned 1.8% while the non-agency CMBS Index posted a return of 2.0%.

ALTERNATIVES

- Real estate investment trusts (REITs), as measured by the FTSE NAREIT Equity REITs Index, returned -1.5% in the second quarter, down from the 0.9% return in the prior quarter. Three of the nine major sectors saw positive returns. Private real estate, as measured by the NCREIF Property Index, gained 0.9% in the fourth quarter of 2024, resulting in a 0.6% return for the year. Q4 marked the second quarter of positive total returns in two years as property value declines leveled off across most sectors. Senior Housing was the top performer, returning 2.1%, while Office Properties continued to fare poorly, returning -0.6%.
- Listed infrastructure, as measured by the MSCI World Infrastructure Index, performed strongly in the second quarter, growing 5.4%. This compares to a 7.6% return in the prior quarter. In Q1 2025, 13 private infrastructure funds raised $49.7 billion, a strong quarter following a year of subdued fundraising. Most of the capital went to funds larger than $5 billion which seek to capitalize on secular trends around the adoption of artificial intelligence (AI) and decarbonization. Infrastructure dry powder has fallen from the previous year and stands at $394.4 billion as of Q3 2024. According to PitchBook, infrastructure funds posted a return of 1.7% in Q4 2024. The asset class has generated an annualized return of 10.7% for the five years ended Q4 2024.
- In Q1 2025, 42 private debt funds raised $68.7 billion. Private debt dry powder remains above the long-term average at $556.7 billion as of Q3 2024; although over 50% has been outstanding for more than two years. According to PitchBook, private debt funds posted a return of -0.2% in Q4 2024. The asset class has generated an annualized return of 8.1% for the five years ended Q4 2024.
- In Q1 2025, 131 private equity funds raised $115.5 billion – a slower pace compared to the prior year as constrained distributions hindered fundraising efforts. The bulk of the capital raised went to experienced managers raising capital for funds larger than $1 billion. Global private equity dry powder, which accounts for the bulk of private capital dry powder, remains high at $1.6 trillion as of Q3 2024. Recent private equity performance has been muted due to higher borrowing costs and a slowdown in deal activity. According to PitchBook, private equity funds posted a return of 0.7% in Q4 2024. The asset class has generated an annualized return of 15.8% for the five years ended Q4 2024.

Factors to Consider Over the Next 6-12 Months

Monetary Policy (Global):

- The Fed continued to hold the rates unchanged through the second quarter amid healthy labor markets and tariff-induced inflation concerns. Latest dot plot points to two rate cuts before year end.
- While inflation continues to cool globally, tariffs add to future inflation pressures and complicate the outlook.

Economic Growth (Global):

- U.S. GDP is expected to grow at a slower pace for rest of the year but uncertainty over economic growth outcomes remains elevated even as higher tariff rates have been paused.
- Escalating trade and geopolitical tensions create the potential for slower global growth while fiscal stimulus within Eurozone a positive for growth.

Inflation (U.S.):

- Progress has been made towards the Fed's 2% inflation target over recent months. However, future price pressures from tariffs are expected in coming months.
- Fed Chair Powell said that he expects tariffs to impact inflation and that the size, duration, and time of tariff effects are highly uncertain.

Financial Conditions (U.S.):

- Even after the recent bout of volatility, risk and credit conditions still point to the stability of financial conditions.
- The evolving fiscal landscape and persistent uncertainty may lead to tightening financial conditions over the next 6-12 months especially if inflation and growth concerns take hold.

Consumer Spending (U.S.):

- Sentiment has remained subdued as consumers continue to expect higher prices and weaker labor market conditions. Tax extension support is a positive while higher prices are a negative.
- A material deterioration of labor market conditions remains the biggest risk factor to consumer spending.

Labor Markets (U.S.):

- The labor market remains healthy, but signs of labor market cooling have begun to show on the margin particularly through initial and continuing jobless claims.
- With hiring and quits rates low, any acceleration in layoffs may result in job seekers remaining unemployed for longer.

Corporate Fundamentals:

- Earnings growth expectations are positive across global equities, but expectations within U.S. have seen a pullback over the course of this year.
- In the U.S., any deregulation initiatives are positives while tariff/cost pressure impact on both earnings growth expectations and profit margins needs attention.

Valuations:

- U.S. equities and credit markets sold off due to reciprocal tariffs in April but have recovered most of the losses over the quarter, bringing them back into expensive valuations relative to history.
- We believe that economic and policy risks are not fully reflected in the current valuations.

Political/Policy Risks:

- Geopolitical conflict in the Middle East and other regions remains a source of concern.
- Deglobalization and global trade and tariff policy risks continue to create market uncertainty and strained relationships with major trading partners for the U.S.

Investment Strategy Overview

Asset Class	Our Q3 2025 Investment Outlook	Comments
U.S. Equities		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Tariffs and their possible impact on business and consumer confidence, corporate profit margins, inflation and economic growth has led to increased uncertainty in 2025. We maintain defensive stance due to expensive valuations amidst uncertainty around economic and policy outcomes. Reciprocal tariffs are being quickly renegotiated but any negative news can lead to swift pullback in equities. Small cap have lagged large caps on YTD basis while recent performance has been positive. Small caps are more attractively valued but vulnerable to higher level of rates and growth slowdown leading us to stay neutral.
Large-Caps
Small-Caps
Non-U.S. Equities		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> International equities have outperformed U.S. equities on YTD basis, helped by a weaker USD. Improved sentiment is driven by increased fiscal spending efforts in Europe and continued stimulus in China but we remain defensive due to worry about global slowdown from tariff and trade tensions. Across Europe and China, we believe that there are structural/geopolitical issues that need to be addressed for long-term sustained outperformance.
Developed Markets
Emerging Markets
Fixed Income		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Latest Fed projections call for higher inflation, higher unemployment and lower growth by year-end while rate cut path still remains uncertain. We maintain an overweight to fixed income due to attractive yields and ability to preserve capital during risk-off periods. We maintain duration close to the benchmark duration across the portfolios. We remain positive on investment grade credit due to underlying corporate fundamentals but are neutral to high yield given the tighter spreads pointing to higher downside than upside in case of stress.
Core Bonds
Investment Grade Credit
High Yield Credit
Diversifying Assets		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> During the S&P 500 sell-off of close to 20%, listed REITs and listed infrastructure held up well pointing to their characteristics of lower correlation. While the long-term fundamentals within listed real estate and listed infrastructure are healthy, we remain neutral due to ongoing interest rate uncertainty.

*The benchmark for the TaxEx Blended Bal Index strategy defined above was assigned to the North LA County Regional Center upon its inception on November 2004.

The official benchmark for the Plan from July 2015 to present was the Wilshire Liquid Alternatives Index. In 1Q 2025, PFMAM lost access to the historical performance of the index. For purpose of updating our blended benchmark, we are using a representative index for liquid alternative investing: the HFRI FOF: Market Defense Index. The index was the alternative index used by the Plan from July 2015 to present.

*The benchmark for the TaxEx Blended Inc Gr Index strategy defined above was assigned to the North LA County Reg Ctr UAL upon its inception on June 2020.

The official benchmark for the Plan from July 2015 to present was the Wilshire Liquid Alternatives Index. In 1Q 2025, PFMAM lost access to the historical performance of the index. For purpose of updating our blended benchmark, we are using a representative index for liquid alternative investing: the HFRI FOF: Market Defense Index. The index was the alternative index used by the Plan from July 2015 to present.

IMPORTANT DISCLOSURES

This material is for general information purposes only and is not intended to provide specific advice or a specific recommendation, as it was prepared without regard to any specific objectives or financial circumstances.

We have exercised reasonable professional care in the preparation of this performance report. Information in this report is obtained from sources external to USBAM and is generally believed to be reliable and available to the public; however, we cannot guarantee its accuracy, completeness or suitability. We rely on the client's custodian for security holdings and market values. Transaction dates reported by the custodian may differ from money manager statements. While efforts are made to ensure the data contained herein is accurate and complete, we disclaim all responsibility for any errors that may occur. References to particular issuers are for illustrative purposes only and are not intended to be recommendations or advice regarding such issuers. Fixed income manager and index characteristics are gathered from external sources. When average credit quality is not available, it is estimated by taking the market value weights of individual credit tiers on the portion of the strategy rated by a NRSRO.

It is not possible to invest directly in an index. The index returns shown throughout this material do not represent the results of actual trading of investor assets. Third-party providers maintain the indices shown and calculate the index levels and performance shown or discussed. Index returns do not reflect payment of any sales charges or fees an investor would pay to purchase the securities they represent. The imposition of these fees and charges would cause investment performance to be lower than the performance shown.

The views expressed within this material constitute the perspective and judgment of USBAM at the time of distribution and are subject to change. Any forecast, projection, or prediction of the market, the economy, economic trends, and equity or fixed-income markets are based upon certain assumptions and current opinion as of the date of issue and are also subject to change.
